Huge Sale at the Heritage Gift Shop

TULARE, Calif. — After five years of business in the Heritage Complex, the Heritage Gift Shop will relocate following a blowout ‘relocation sale’ on Aug. 1-4 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

All shop merchandise will be cut 50%, with a 25% reduction on artwork.

From ball-caps to home décor, the Heritage Gift Shop has an abundance of memorabilia for the World Ag Expo, in addition to agricultural gifts.

During the sale you’ll find unique and affordable retail goods that will match anyone’s taste. For the agriculturalist at heart, stop by and pickup cotton insignia mugs and California Grown merchandise. The shop is also equipped with World Ag Expo T-shirts, sweatshirts, hats and infamous orange jackets. Children will love the John Deere gear; including small toy tractors and story books.

Heritage retail also compliments home needs and desires. The shop has a selection of one-of-a-kind local honey, jams, spices and other kitchen necessities. In addition, the sale prices provide the perfect opportunity to stock up on exclusive Christmas ornaments and exceptional rural art at 25% off the original price. The gift shop will also sell all original jewelry in stock.

Operator of the Heritage Gift Shop, Nancy Stevens of Alpha Designs in Hanford, anticipates the future discussion of a new store location that will better serve customer needs for merchandise and World Ag Expo products.

The Heritage Gift Shop is on the first floor of the Heritage Complex at the International Agri-Center located at 4500 S. Laspina Street, Tulare, Calif. 93274. For more information please call the Heritage Complex at (559) 688-1030.
